FIREMEN CAREY AND DEWITT DIE AT HOSPITAL

Fire Truck Collides With Train at Broadway Crossing

5 Killed in Train Crash with Auto Near Milton, Vt.

Milton, Vt., May 15 (AP).—Five persons, four of whom were school children, were killed today when an automobile used for transporting the children to school collided with a train two miles south of Milton village.

The dead were John C. Vasseur, 27, driver of the car; Rene Laroche, 11, and her brother, Howard, 13, Earl Murray, 10, and Earl Fuller, 14, all of Milton.

The children were enroute to school on Saturday to make up for time previously lost.

Investigators said the driver apparently expected a clear track at the little second-grade crossing, unaware that the train, an express from Washington and New York to Montreal, was running 15 minutes late.

The light sedan, crushed against the front of the locomotive, was carried about a train length.

Every person in the vehicle was killed and their bodies were strewn along the right of way.

A light rain was falling at the time of the accident, investigators said, and possibly helped obscure the view of the unguarded crossing.

5 PERSONS KILLED IN

POUGHKEEPSIE CRASH.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 15 (AP).—Five persons, including three Skidmore College graduates en route to the Spa campus for May Day exercises, were in hospitals today as the result of an automobile collision on the Albany post road near here.

The condition of Miss Edna R. Marcus of Paterson, N. J., was described as "critical" by (Highland) hospital authorities in Beacon. She suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

In Vassar Hospital here were her companions, Miss Virginia Sturtz, 23, of New York city, and Miss Virginia Dorgeval, 23, of Summit, N. J. Physicians said they suffered from shock, multiple abrasions and rib fractures.

Theodore Bruckner, 30, and Charles Riedel, 35, both employees of the Hospital for Incurables in the Bronx, occupants of the second machine in the crash, were in Vassar Hospital with face and leg injuries.

Held for Manslaughter

Buffalo, N. Y., May 15 (AP).—A 16-year-old Indian bride was held in the Erie County Penitentiary under $5,000 bond today, charged with voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of her athlete husband, who, she said, made her suffer "constant abuse." Mrs. Norma White, Cayuga Indian, pleaded innocent at her arraignment before United States Commissioner Boyce H. Butterfield yesterday, but previously had told a constable and a justice of the peace that she shot her husband when "everything went black." Constable William J. Murphy, of Collins, who found the husband, Ivory, 24-year-old Seneca Indian, dying at the White home on the Cattaraugus Indian Reservation, said Mrs. White was an expectant mother.

Pitts Predicts Arrest

Los Angeles, May 15 (AP).—District Attorney Byron Pitts, returning here by airplane from Oakland, Cal., predicted today the arrest of the "ring leader" in an alleged paid plot to assassinate him last March 7, when Pitts was shot in the arm. The district attorney claimed after questioning two men in Oakland, it was definitely established the attackers were ex-convicts sent to prison through his prosecution. Pitts said an Oakland informant reported the attackers were to be paid $1,000 for killing him. When the ambush resulted only in the prosecutor's injury they received only $200.

St. Louis Hotel Strike

St. Louis, May 15 (AP).—A strike of American Federation of Labor union employees was called today in 29 of St. Louis' principal hotels. Pickets were ordered to duty early today. The strike was ordered after a committee representing the St. Louis Hotel Association refused the unions' demand for a "closed shop." William Brandt, secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union, said hotel employees offered yesterday to waive temporarily all questions of other adjustments if their single demand was granted.

Washington, May 15 (AP).—The position of the Treasury May 13: Receipts, $10,318,046.73; expenditures, $19,295,076.33; balance $1,747,033.319.04; customs receipts for the month, $20,049,960.02. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $4,268,911,759.09; expenditures, $6,737,283.99 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $2,468,371,635.56; gross debt, $35,090,705.04 over the previous day; gold assets, $11,885,667,757.33, including $654,353,514.12 of inactive gold.

HELD FOR KILLINGS TO THRILL GIRL

Lester Brockelhurst, former Illinois convict wanted for questioning about killings in Illinois, Arkansas and Texas, is shown after he was captured at Brewster, N. Y., with a girl friend, when State Trooper Joseph Hunt (right) noticed a license plate was missing from the car. Police say Brockelhurst confessed he slew three men for money and to amuse the girl, who said she was Bernice Felton of Rockford, Ill.

No H.R.H. for Wally But She Will Rank as 8th Lady in Realm

London, May 15 (AP).—A titled friend of the Duke of Windsor asserted today "It is definitely fixed" that the Duke's bride-to-be will not become "her royal highness"—at least not immediately.

This intimate admitted that the former British monarch was most anxious to obtain for his bride his own royal style when they marry, probably next month.

"That is quite natural," said the friend, "for he wanted to make her queen."

The Duke's younger brother, King George VI, and the government hold all the trump in the game, he added, but it was not ruled out that the King might raise the Duchess to the rank of "H. R. H." after a lapse of time had dimmed the bitter feeling engendered by the abdication.

Thus the quarrel touched off by Edward VIII's choice of an American-born divorcee for a wife appeared far from happy solution today despite the fact Prime Minister Baldwin is expected to retire this month.

The premier who led the fight to keep Edward from marrying Wallis Warfield is expected to further his opposition to the romance through Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, who, political observers agree, is likely to be his successor.

Chamberlain agreed to see eye-to-eye with Baldwin on the dispute which now revolves about the question: Shall the Duchess of Windsor be a "Royal Highness?"

His attitude was said to include support for the government's decision not to pension the former king.

The policy of the Baldwin government has been to boost Edward's brother, who succeeded to the throne as George VI after last December's abdication, and to keep Edward in the background as much as possible.

Meanwhile, in one view, the matter of title recognition for Mrs. Warfield when she becomes Edward's June bride rested finally with King George—with the advice of his ministers.

What if any action the newly-crowned king would take remained secret, but the promise of a formal announcement Monday or Tuesday concerning wedding plans from the Duke and Mrs. Warfield's pre-nuptial retreat, Chateau De Candé, in France, seemed to indicate some sort of a settlement had been reached.

Mrs. Warfield—assured through marriage of the rank of Duchess—will stand as eighth lady of the British realm, whether she technically becomes a "royal highness" or not.

Bank Survey

New York, May 15 (AP).—The Central Regional Real Estate Convention was told today that Senator Wagner of New York would support a bill for a country-wide survey to determine the need for a privately owned, government supervised, National Mortgage Bank.

Three Alarm Fire Guts Former Creamery Bldg. On Downs Street Today

Blaze Levels Ice House Section of Former Kaufman Creamery at Early Hour This Morning—Damages Other Parts of Structure.

GENERAL ALARM

First General Alarm Fire in Kingston Since Burning of City Hall Several Years Ago.

The former Kaufman creamery building located at 26 Downs street, recently purchased by John W. Matthews and in the process of being renovated and placed in condition for use as a storage warehouse, was badly damaged by a fire shortly after midnight. When discovered the flames had gained considerable headway in the cold storage section of the building and before the flames were under control the entire ice house section was leveled and the rear portion of the two story front section of the building had been damaged.

The first alarm was sent in shortly before midnight from Box 74, Broadway and Liberty street, and a few minutes later a second and third alarm was sent in bringing out all available fire apparatus in the city.

When discovered the fire was shooting up the elevator shaft on the south side of the building and the interior of the cold storage portion of the building was a seething mass of flames. The interior of the building was of pine construction, faced with brick, and the burning structure gave off huge quantities of smoke and sparks from the sawdust insulation of the building spread over a wide area. Due to the fact that a heavy downpour was in progress there was little danger of additional fires from the flying sparks and the firemen were able to direct all of their attention to the creamery building.

Four Stories High
The ice house section of the building where apparently the fire started, was located at the rear of the creamery plant and was four stories in height, brick faced.

The front portion of the building is of brick, two stories in height with the office section of the building on Downs street at a slightly lower elevation than the main creamery building.

Despite several streams of water the firemen were unable to cope with the hot flames in the cold storage section and this portion of the building was entirely consumed, the brick walls collapsing with the exception of a small section near the elevator shaft on the corner next to the creamery building. The blaze was checked at the junction of the ice house section and the two story creamery portion of the plant. The flames made their way into the rear of this section and the interior was considerably damaged. The front section of the building on Downs street, where the office was located, however escaped the flames.

Broke in Door
In order to get at the blaze on arrival the firemen were compelled to break in a door to get at the burning interior of the ice house. Soon the flames were leaping high above the roof and the roof shortly caved in with a huge shower of sparks. This was followed by sections of the brick wall tumbling in.

A two story frame building at the rear of the ice house was also damaged by the fire.

Will Hear All Claims.
Before leaving Lenoire, Prosecutor Melton said he had been informed New York would not release either Brockelhurst or the girl to any state until the claims of Arkansas, Illinois and Texas all had been heard.

Melton said he was bringing with him extradition papers signed by Governor Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas. Sheriff Johnson said he had not

City Requested Reflector Buttons On Crossing Gates

The following communications were written to the New York Central Railroad at the request of Mayor Heisterman:

Feb. 1, 1934.
Mr. A. H. Wright,
Sup. New York Central R. R. Co.,
Weehawken, N. J.

Dear Sir:—
At a meeting of the Board of Public Works held on January 29th, it was regularly moved and seconded that the West Shore R. R. Co. be requested to place red cat's eye reflector buttons on all of their grade crossing gates within the city limits, three feet apart, in order to warn traffic that the gates are lowered.

The single red light on gates is often very confusing and looks more like the tail-light of another car rather than lowered gates. Your cooperation in this matter we feel will be a safety measure and protection to traffic.

Yours very truly,
BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Asst. Secretary
Another letter was written to the railroad on April 26, 1934, as follows:

"You have not as yet complied with our previous instructions to place red cat's eye buttons three feet apart on all of your crossing gates within the city limits, to warn traffic that the gates are down."

Please be advised that we want you to complete this work as quickly as possible as summer traffic is increasing, and we believe these cat's eyes are necessary for the protection of traffic.

The railroad representative called at the board of public works office on May 27 and stated that the State Public Service law did not require reflector buttons on crossing gates and that the railroad company could not comply with the city's request.

Duke Didn't Bid

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 15 (AP).—William B. Leeds' 51-acre estate on Long Island went on auction today without the Duke of Windsor being a bidder. From Herman L. Rogers at Montic, France, spokesman for the former King of England, came the announcement that Windsor was "not looking forward to the purchase of the property."

Truck Hits Train After Crashing Gates at 2:25 a.m.

Richard Smith, Uninjured Fireman on Seat With Driver Finkle, in Hospital. Says Heavy Rain Dimmed Vision.

GATEMAN CHALLENGED

Fire Chief Murphy Retorts Truck Not Traveling at 50 M. P. H. as Ellwanger Says.

Human sacrifices to Kingston's inability to agree on a plan to eliminate the West Shore Crossing, Firemen Peter Carey, 43, 60 Clinton avenue, and Preston L. DeWitt, 32, of 82 Downs street, died this morning in Kingston Hospital after the fire truck they were riding collided with passenger train No. 19 at the Broadway crossing as the firemen were returning on the vehicle from a three-alarm fire on Downs street at 2:25 a. m. Seriously hurt was Ferrill F. Finkle of 117 Abbey street, another fireman, who is in the hospital. A fourth fire fighter, Richard J. Smith of 109 Abell street, escaped uninjured. At the time of the accident Smith was sitting beside Finkle, who was driving Engine No. 1 of the Central Fire Station, the other two being on the rear platform. All were paid firemen.

THE DEAD

Fireman Carey died at the Kingston Hospital about 6 o'clock. His injuries were several broken ribs, a broken back, dislocated hip and a fractured skull.

Fireman De Witt died at Kingston Hospital at 11 o'clock. He suffered a broken pelvis, a broken leg and internal injuries.

CRITICALLY INJURED

Fireman Finkle has a broken collar bone, one lung is punctured and he suffers possible internal injuries.

Returning From Fire

The fire truck was on its way to the Central Fire Station after being on duty at the three-alarm fire on Downs street. Fireman Finkle was driving, and, according to Fireman Smith, the truck was not proceeding over 25 miles an hour.

Smith's Story

The story as told by Fireman Smith was as follows: "I think we were driving down Broadway about 25 miles an hour. It was raining hard and we were riding in an open seat without a windshield in front of us. The rain beat down upon us, stinging our faces and eyes."

"Suddenly I saw an oncoming train across the railroad crossing. It was right in front of me. Then I saw a piece of the gate in the air and I knew we had crashed through the crossing gates. We struck some part of the train and were dragged up to the tracks toward the railroad station for some distance."

"Finkle was knocked over in my arms. I was unhurt. It all happened so quickly I hardly knew what happened. Afterward I went back to help pick up Carey and DeWitt, and then went back and helped get Finkle out of the truck."

Truck Hit Baggage Car
From an investigation of the tragedy made by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood and his officers, the fire truck evidently had struck the express and baggage car which was just behind the locomotive and tender of the passenger train. As the fire truck collided with the baggage car it was drawn sideways to the moving train and was carried 125 feet up the tracks toward the railroad station.

Both Lambie and Merrill were dog-tired last night when they piled into bed. Before they went to sleep, however, they ate huge dinners, making up for the meagre fare of ham and cheese sandwiches on which they had subsisted since their last dinner in England the previous evening.

Both fliers will return next week to their jobs of flying a transport plane on the New York-to-Miami run. Lambie has been Merrill's copilot for four months.

The pilots credited each other with the success of the record-breaking trip.

Said Lambie: "Dick did all the work." But Merrill disclosed that Lambie did the navigation as well as relieving him at the wheel. A modified great circle course was followed both directions. At each end of the trip, radio navigation was used to direct the ship to its destination. But for something over 2,500 miles in each direction, Lambie used celestial navigation and dead reckoning.

In addition to a radio compass, the fliers used a sperry gyro pilot, a two-way radio telephone, and key wireless. "It was awful rough weather," said Merrill, "and I don't know what we'd have done without the automatic pilot."

May Snowfall
Malone, N. Y., May 15 (AP).—Malone and nearby Adirondack communities were blanketed in white today when suddenly lowering temperatures transformed a 36-hour rain into a May snowfall.

FLIERS COMPLETE ROUND TRIP OCEAN JOURNEY

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 14.—J. Caro of Brooklyn, who has leased one of the Winchell houses in the village center, was a caller here recently.

The mountain pinks are making a fine showing in many local front yards at this time. One of the most showy beds of these blooms is that of Mrs. C. G. Fuller on the north boulevard.

Miss Kate Walton called on relatives in Phoenixia Thursday afternoon.

Homer Markle, Jr., is making good progress at painting the residence buildings at Harry Bailey's farm near the Shandaken line.

The teacher and several pupils of the Shokan school plan to take an educational trip to New York on Saturday, May 23. The party expects to make the round trip from Kingston by boat. Last year the pupils journeyed by bus to Albany where they made a tour of the state buildings.

Leveling of the old Blackwell house in the west end makes a great change in the appearance of that section of Shokan. Generations ago the old house was the home of David Conover, member of a distinguished family. The Conovers were prominently identified with Washington's Army and it was on their farm that the Battle of Monmouth was fought.

Hor Jacobs, well known Kingston landscape artist, was a business caller here Monday. Mr. Jacobs is currently engaged in setting out laurel and other shrubs in the city parks.

Miss Gertrude Osterhout, a Brown Station young woman who has been studying in Brooklyn for the past several months, underwent an appendectomy at the Benedictine Hospital earlier in the week.

A local farmer who has been agitated by a big chicken hawk was surprised the other day to see the hawk attacked by three crows. The hawk took place high in the air and the crows barred their enemy that the latter soon retreated to his nest on a distant ridge. Benjamin Horowitz has resumed his duties as D. W. S. chemist at the reservoir gate chamber after having been ill at his home in New York.

May 25, 1899, the convention of the Olive Sunday School Association took place at the Baptist church. Devotional exercises were led by Parr Harlow, president. The Shokan Reformed school reported 14 officers and teachers and 60 pupils, its officers being as follows: Irwin P. Winne, superintendent; Mrs. Dewitt C. Davis, assistant; Jan. Benoit, librarian; Elwyn Winchell, secretary, and Anna Bell, treasurer. During the evening address of the Rev. Mr. Thompson of Poughkeepsie, the speaker said that 171 passes were granted to ministers along the line of the U. & D. R. R., enabling the reverend gentlemen to travel half fare.

Thomas Matland according to report will use the new addition to his house for a refreshment parlor, thus making five places in the village where refreshments may be had.

Charles W. Walton, a large property holder in Olive and adjacent towns, has returned to Kingston following a vacation sojourn at Atlantic City.

The ruins of the Lyons and Wheat fires have been cleaned up in good shape. This is in pleasing contrast to the indifference shown by an out of town resident who for the past several years has allowed the charred ruins of his former residence in the lower village to remain intact.

Mrs. E. C. Burgher has been engaged to teach the Shokan school next term. Mrs. Burgher next month will have ended her sixth year in charge of the local school.

The shower of Thursday night was needed to keep the grass growing in pasture and meadow. The wind had dried out the surface of the ground considerably. The Butternutkill and Tonche streams ran down very rapidly as a result of the dry spell.

Lawn grading and other finishing touches to Chester Lyons' attractive new residence property on Church Hill are being made this week. Mr. Lyons plans to sell or rent the house which is the first large building of its kind to be erected here in several years.

Earl C. North, member of the local reservoir force, is ill of the chicken-pox.

The Smith memorial park, near the main dam, has been further beautified by trimming out the heavy growth of vines between the monument and the dyke boulevard. The plot bounded by the circular driveway is landscaped with young hemlocks and pines, with mountain laurel as a centerpiece. The park, as laid out last year, forms still an inviting spot to attract the sightseers who flock to the great reservoir each summer.

Charles Duluff, hustling Bolleville lumberman, is building an addition onto the state road side of his sawmill. The new building will house a cross-cut saw for working up slabs into firewood, also a rip saw for reducing boards and timbers to contract sizes. The slab lengths used for the boiler fire of the mill formerly was sawed up by Arthur Penny, whose tragic death in a highway accident took place recently.

A local man caught a fine mess of old-fashioned brook trout Sunday. The fish, most desirable of the trout family, is becoming very scarce in these parts, having been run out of most streams by the larger brown variety. Big time fishermen here Sunday included George Freer and Alex. Mains of Kingston, who landed both trout and bass of immense size near the circle park of the Beaverkill dyke. Night crawlers were the lure which led to the downfall of these Ashokan piscatorial patriarchs, and the bass, especially, fell for them so heavily that they swallowed the hook, leaving their captors no choice but to cut the line. One of the Freer take weighed around five pounds, which is some fish, even for the Ashokan.

The annual meeting of the Mt. Pleasant Rural Cemetery Association will be held at Winchell's Hall, Sunday, May 16, at 2:30 p. m., D. S. Time. All lot owners are asked to attend.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

IT'S ODD But It's Science

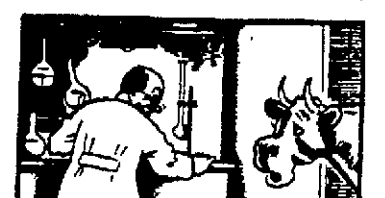

LONDONERS PLAY

JOKE ON COWS.

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE, Science Editor.

New York—A joke on the cows is reported by William Clayton and James Frederick Morse, London scientists. They put a dash of saponin, a white powder used to make beverages foamy, into good butter cream.

Thereafter hours of churning failed to make any butter. They were trying to settle an old scientific dispute—what is butter? One theory said it was an emulsion, a mixture of fat and water. The other said it wasn't.

They think they have proved that butter is not an emulsion, but just a lot of fat, since their white powder prevented the fat and the protein in the milk from separating and no butter was formed. This, they say, demonstrates that churning separates the proteins and fats, and the fat globules mass together into butter.

U. S. MARINE KINDLY CHAP WHO ATTRACTS DOGS AND KIDS, SAYS MAJ. GEN. S. D. BUTLER.

Albany, N. Y., May 15 (AP).—Major General Smedley D. Butler, United States Marine Corps, retired, says that "the American soldier has always been a kindly, honest man, who always attracted dogs and children."

The general delivered this eulogy while addressing cadets of Christian Brothers Academy, after a review in his honor.

"What we need is a good standing army, prepared to fight for its own on its own ground," General Butler declared. "If we have well trained and mobile troops we never will have to worry very much about foreign invaders."

"If I had my way," he added, "I'd have 250,000 airfield in the country and a million pilots in the air."

Atlanta—A hitch-hiker stopped Major Trammell Scott as he was driving out of Atlanta yesterday. Scott stopped and opened the door. The hitch-hiker looked in. "Got a radio in there?" he asked. "No," replied the Major. "Go ahead," said the hitch-hiker. "I'll get another car."

Mayoralty Ticket.

Union, S. C.—City Patrolman Keisler had seen the car before, but he couldn't remember just where. He tagged it, anyway, for overtime parking. Mayor E. R. Davis was the owner. He fined himself $1 in mayor's court. Patrolman Keisler then recalled where he had seen the car before. He had tagged it for the same violation once previously.

HOWEVER softly May zephyrs blow, they awaken in all of us the fond yearnings for Summer and vacation.

Like seeds, these stir in the depths of the mind and twine pleasant tendrils about our thought. A fine spirit of fellowship prevailed throughout the supper and social time. After the supper the pastor conducted a brief devotional service. Powdered Mummy Remedies

Mummies have always been particularly prolific of legend. In the Middle Ages, powdered mummy was considered a potent specific for many diseases, and may still be purchased in the East for medicinal purposes. But the effects of these ancient cadavers have not always been benign. There is a tale told of the mummy of Ramesses II, the great Pharaoh, which was discovered in the Valley of the Kings. Sacrilegious antiquarians put the royal corpse on exhibition in the Cairo museum. Ramesses rose in wrath to a sitting posture, hit his head against the top of the case and cracked the glass. It is said his Majesty uttered strange sounds—probably old Egyptian for "Ouch!"—and several persons were killed in the ensuing panic.

A pretty woman owes her greatest debt to nature, despite the fact that stores and beauty parlors get more of her money.

London, May 15 (AP)—Philip Snowden, first viscount of Ickneshaw, former chancellor of the Exchequer and a guiding spirit of the British labor movement, died suddenly today of a heart attack.

The socialist peer was 72 years old.

The viscount, who overcame invalidism to rise from obscurity in Lancashire and twice hold the purse strings of the British empire, died at 4 a. m. at his country home, Tilford, Surrey.

He had been there for some time in ill health. His widow, the Viscountess Snowden, explained on the day before the coronation of King George VI that Lord Snowden was not well enough to attend.

His illness, however, apparently had not seemed critical, for Viscountess Snowden was present and was a guest last night at a state ball at Buckingham Palace.

She was informed here of her husband's death and left immediately for Tilford.

Viscount Snowden, who was raised to the peerage by the late King George V in 1931, won his sovereign's recognition for his help in forming the national government in 1931 with Ramsay MacDonald as prime minister.

Lord Snowden later split with MacDonald over repeal of the land tax and bitterly assailed his erstwhile colleague from his seat in the House of Lords.

When a storm broke over the Ottawa tariffs bill in 1932 Viscount Snowden remained an uncompromising free trader and sent his resignation to MacDonald.

"My loyalty to you and the national government has been strained to the breaking point," he declared, charging that Tories had been permitted to break the unity of the national ministry by forcing their own policy.

Lord Snowden, pacifist and atheist, struggled through much of his life against the weight of public opinion and against the aftermath of an accident in his youth that left him permanently crippled.

Newspaper Writer. Before he entered actively in British politics, he was a newspaper writer. He wrote extensively throughout his life on Socialist views of wages, labor and finance.

His chancellorship of the exchequer was in two post-war cabinets, those of 1924 and 1929-1931.

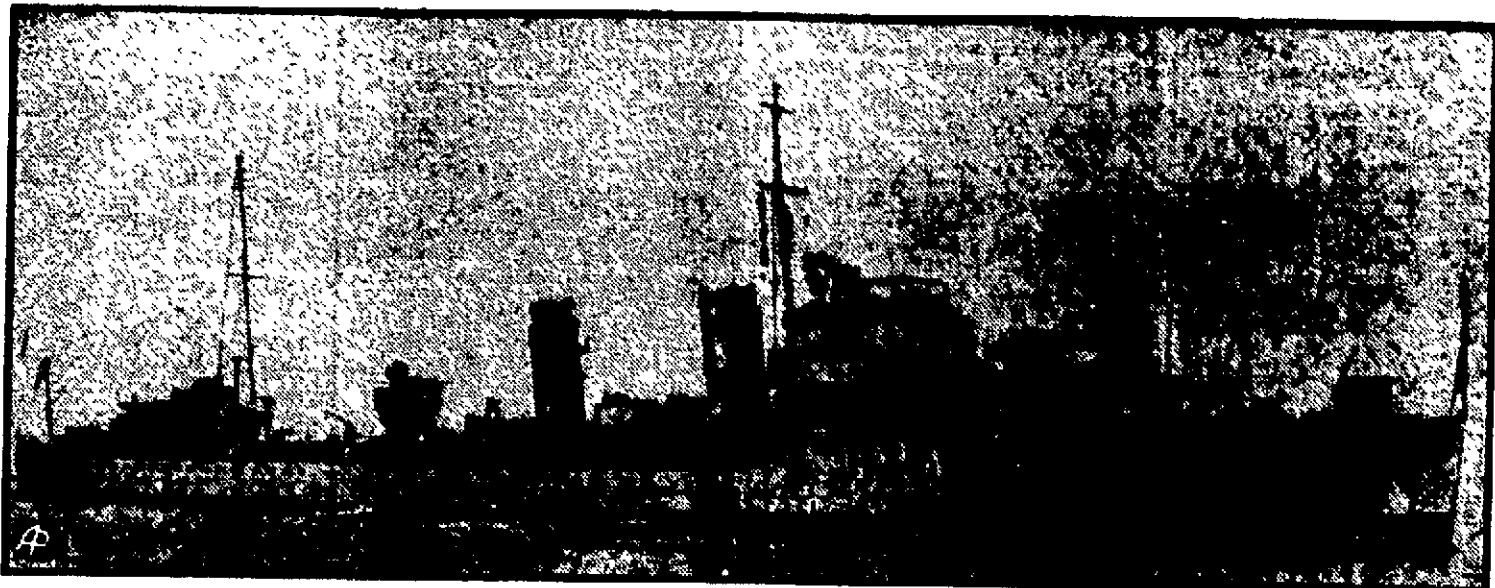

He was twice chairman of the Independent Labor Party, from 1903 to 1906 and from 1917 to 1920. Besides membership in the House of Commons before his election to the peerage, Viscount Snowden served on the royal commissions of canals and waterways, civil service, general diseases and on the central (liquor) control board.

He was married in 1905 to Ethel Annakin, now Viscountess Snowden, who shared actively in her husband's career. She was at one time a member of the executive committee of the Fabian Society, with which George Bernard Shaw was affiliated in his youth, and of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies.

Issues Remain Unsolved

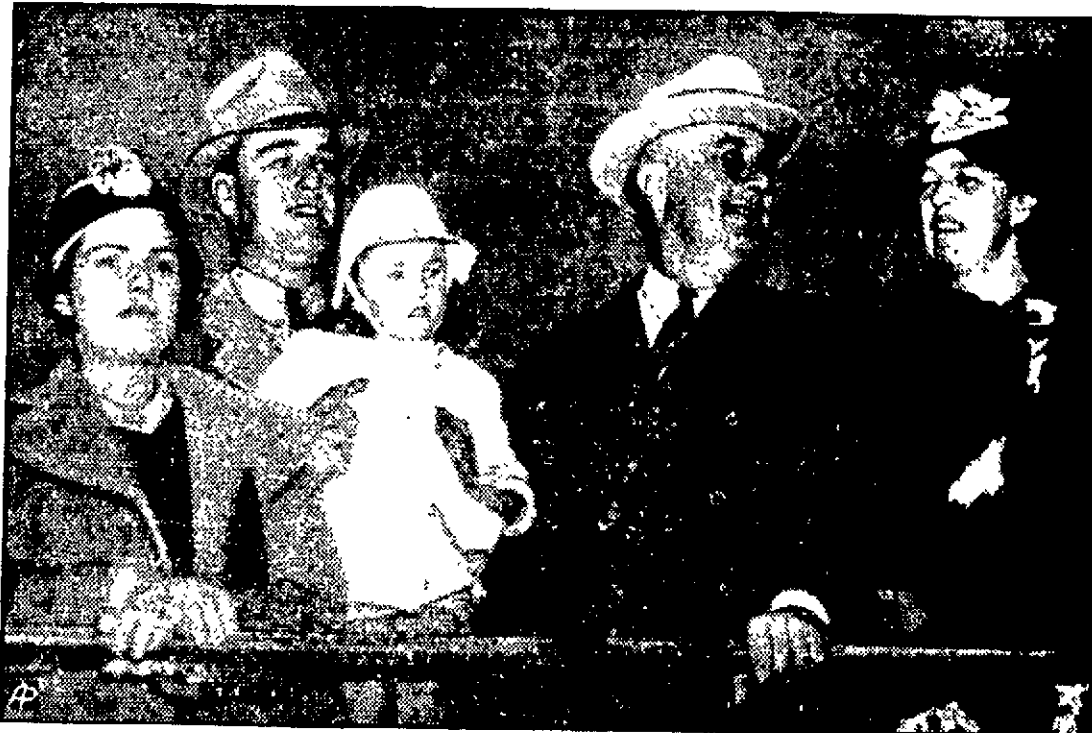

New York, May 15 (AP)—Efforts of a presidential mediation board to avert a threatened strike of 25,000 railway workers in the New York area were successful today, but issues which precipitated the crisis remained unsolved. The board notified President Roosevelt that nine eastern railways would grant eight-cent-an-hour wage increases to a number of pier freight handlers involved, to avert the threatened strike.

Pacific Plan Seen as Move Toward Pact For U. S.-Britain

London, May 15 (AP)—A plea for a Pacific ocean non-aggression pact, voiced before the British imperial conference, was interpreted today as a move toward broad cooperation between Great Britain and the United States to preserve the peace of the world.

The pact, as proposed yesterday by Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons of Australia before statesmen-delegates from the ends of the British empire, would include Japan, Australia, Great Britain, and the United States.

The empire talks were transferred today from St. James's palace to prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's country home, Chequers, where Lyons and Prime Minister J. B. M. Herzog of the Union of South Africa were week-end guests.

In London where the gaiety of the coronation season still resounded, 150 advisers and secretaries of the conference delegates prepared documents to be submitted when the imperial conference resumed next Wednesday in secret session.

The Daily Mail suggests that Anglo-American cooperation toward the assurance of peace could be based on a new economic understanding between the two forces.

"When this agreement has been concluded, there will be discussion with an all round modification of the Ottawa agreements as they affect the United States and the dominions," the newspaper said, referring to the 1932 trade parity at the Canadian capital. "From economic understanding, attempts will be made to develop political cooperation on a much firmer foundation than has been sought for many years."

Fresh crowds were attracted to London by the Whituntide holidays. The city still had to get along without 5,000 buses halted by a two-week-old strike.

Dinner and Speeches
Open Y. W. Campaign

With pep songs and rousing speeches another Y. W. C. A. campaign was started in last evening at the annual dinner for campaign workers. The Rev. A. C. Cole, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the invocation. Seated at the speakers' table were Mrs. G. N. Wood, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Mayor Conrad J. Helsenman, Dr. Cole, Mrs. Frederic W. In his speech, which opened the meeting after the dinner, the Mayor predicted a successful drive. The fact that the Y. W. C. A. had such success will spur the friends of the Y. W. C. A. to rise to the occasion, said the mayor.

Mrs. Wood, who presided at the meeting, next introduced the second speaker, who pointed out the relation between the cause of the present day as compared to the causes when the Young Women's Christian Association was first organized. Juniors Fete Seniors
With Tea at St. Ursula's

On Tuesday afternoon at the Academy of St. Ursula, Marygrove, one of the most memorable events in the life of the high school students was held when the juniors were hostesses to the seniors at the annual Spring tea.

This tea, the inaugural to the series of commencement events, was given in the form of a Japanese tea. The table, in the shape of a large "U", was decorated with cherry blossoms, incense burners, Japanese lanterns and at the curve of the "U" an oriental lamp was placed.

Two one-act plays, "Nevertheless" and "The Gifts of Life", were given. The latter presentation was dramatic symbolism and was given as a prelude to the class prophecy which was read by Miss Elizabeth Bennett. Following the plays and the prophecy, games and dancing were enjoyed.

At tea the juniors presented the seniors with a year book, a highly individual offering containing snapshots, written events of the academy and various addenda dear to each Mr. and Mrs. student. The book was in the shape of a Japanese lantern and the colors were orange and black. The seniors accepted the gift with sincere thanks.

Class Day Elections

The senior class elected speakers to participate in the traditional Class Day program this week. Senior class president, Frank O'Hara, presided over the specially arranged meeting of the entire graduating class. Mr. Dumm reminded the class of the regulations governing the selection of the baccalaureate day speakers, the program of which will be held on the Sunday evening preceding Commencement Day.

Albert Tyler was elected class orator on the second ballot defeating Harold Reis in the final from a list of candidates also including John Morris, Raymond Quick and Dorothy Tancered. William Wall was elected to the office of class poet also on the second ballot defeating Ethel Moncur and a field of Alma Neale, Louise Kramer, Elizabeth Gibson and Caroline Larlos. The class poet's office carries with it the duty of composing an original verse of poetry to be presented orally at the Class Day ceremonies. The election of the two speakers was the first in a series of meetings which will be continued during the near future. Mrs. Elmer, Miss Smith, Marie Nenni, Carl Studer, Evelyn Olivet and Joseph Mikasch acted as monitors in the election proceedings.

Senior Speakers

Carl Studer and Richard Pfeiffer were elected to the offices of class prophet and class critic in another of the daily 1937 senior class meetings held during the week. Nominees selected for Class Prophet included Margery Whiteley, John Ench, Carl Studer, William Stall, Don Mathers and George Stravsky. On the second ballot, Carl Studer was elected over Miss Whiteley and succeeded to the office. Dick Pfeiffer bested Jake Myers by the narrow margin of seven votes in an unusually closely contested race for election of Class Critic. The field of Gilbert Richter, Lillian Raffaldi, Irene Suskind, Donald Mathers, Evelyn Winsfield, Myers and Pfeiffer narrowed down to the last two finalists, with Pfeiffer finally emerging victorious.

Class Prophet Studer is a veteran end on the DUSO championship football squad and a member of past baseball teams. The newly elected prophet of the class is active in the senior phases also, serving as an officer in several leading student organizations and has figured in several dramatic skits and the Senior play "The Show-Off." Dick Pfeiffer served as manager of the DUSO championship football team and is also active in several of the leading student groups. Mr. Dunbar, vocational guidance director, announced that a representative of Tusculum College of Greenswood, Tenn., was expected during the week to conduct personal interviews with interested Senior students. The school is of a co-educational standard with high scholastic rating and featuring extremely low tuition cost per year.

Local high school graduates have attended the college in past years with Harry Whiteley and Marjorie Smith among the present enrollees at the school. The school specializes in engineering and professions and interested seniors are urged to comply with Mr. Dunbar's instructions.

Coronation Broadcast

Students enrolled in the History "B" course classes received a realistic description of the historic coronation ceremonies attending the famed English ritual which was enacted recently at the school. The coronation was granted permission to attend classes in Room 9 during the study hall periods in the morning to hear a radio broadcast of the crowning of the king and queen. An ingenious radio-hook-up was established for the enlightenment of the students pursuing the middle-ages history courses dealing directly with British life, folklore and customs.

Civic Study Assembly

Mr. Connelly, secretary of the Kingston Co-Operative Savings and Loan Association, visited the high school auditorium Wednesday morning to address a specially convened assembly. Boyd, civil study course instructor, introduced the speaker to the large gathering of students from the Economic Citizenship classes of Mrs. Boyd, Miss Smith, Mr. Doheny, Mr. Etienne and Mr. Streifer.

The historical, financial, legal and operative phases were outlined in detail as the speaker extolled the growth of the local system and the tremendous increase in financial assets. The original system was first developed in China over 300 years ago in a small village with the governing idea based on premiums bid for building houses. The principle curricular advisors from a practical point of view were transferred to Germany some 50 years later and then to England where it operated as the building society. Benjamin Franklin, a great apostle of thrift, brought the idea to this country in the city of Philadelphia. The idea spread through Pennsylvania and thence to New Jersey and New York. The organization is governed by strict banking laws and is under supervision of the state, which requires semi-annual reports. All improper practices are promptly prohibited with the loan organizations the only banks to meet the bank holiday successfully. With but two exceptions, all units survived and the local branches came through handsomely.

Senior Boys Meeting

The traditional graduation wearing apparel to be worn by the 1937 edition of the Senior Class was selected Thursday morning at a special assembly of all senior boys in Hall B for the purpose of determining uniform wearing apparel. Mr. Culver, Senior boys advisor, speaking from past experiences, counseled the large gathering of boys on the necessity of selecting appropriate apparel. Cost, range, service, durability and design of several graduation outfits were discussed. Uniformity in dress has always been a keynote in past ceremonies and the long-standing custom will be followed this year. The senior class committee is in the process of selecting an official tie to be worn by the graduates. Mr. Culver stated that the total cost should be kept parol down as low as possible as the graduation proposition was an expensive item. Upon a motion by President O'Hara, the official garb for the class was designated as a dark hued coat, white trousers, white shoes and the official senior tie. The selected wearing apparel follows the custom of preceding senior classes of KHS in every respect.

A. A. Party

The annual party staged by the Kingston High School Athletic Association will be on Thursday evening, May 20, in the high-school auditorium at 8:15. The "Ginger Snaps" drama, eccentric dance and duet will be climaxed by a rousing square dance with the closing phases being enlightened by soloists Dot Batron and Catherine Weirich, the duo of Marie Nenni and Joe Kearney. Hydrant Armstrong will put on his famed shuffle dance with Theresa Bruckner acting as a mimic and imitator while a girls chorus and Jane Ball, talented dancer, will conclude the program of entertainment with the students descending to the gym to dance to the strains of the Melody Kings with Joe Kearney heading the swing session.

The cast chosen to make the jaunt to Newburgh was: Carl Studer, who will play the lead role of Harlequin; Victorine Rooney, who will portray Columbine; Helen Cragin—Margot, Columbine's maid; Piarrot will be enacted by Ed McManus and Punchinello by William Stall. Auto Mechanic Is Awarded Title of Baron by Court

San Jose, Calif.—Ernest Siber, twenty-four-year-old auto mechanic, has demonstrated that while the Constitution prevents any foreign country from conferring a title of nobility on an American citizen, there is nothing to prevent an American citizen from doing so.

As a consequence, Siber is now Baron Ernst H. Von Schanenflugel.

Siber explained his desire and predicament to the Superior court about the title as follows:

His father, Harold Siber, is chief engineer at the San Jose hospital. His grandfather, however, who died in Germany a number of years ago, was authentically Baron von Schanenflugel.

However, as the latter name was entirely too much for the average American to pronounce, his father had his name changed to "Siber."

The son, however, desirous of preserving his grandfather's name and the title, asked the court to restore him the family title, name and all, regardless of the difficulties of pronunciation, and the court complied.

A wide plain border on a bath towel narrows down the terry cloth or looped surface which is the real drying area. If two towels measure the same in length and width, the one with the narrower borders will give the greater absorbent surface. The pile loops determine the drying value of the towel, but they must be attached to a fairly firm foundation fabric, or the loop will not wear. Loops about one-eighth of an inch long turn to be the most desirable.

Reserves Decision On Application to Examine Minutes

An application to examine the grand jury minutes relative to the Floyd Weeks indictments, was argued Friday before Justice Bergan at Albany and at the conclusion of the argument Justice Bergan reserved decision in the matter.

Chris J. Flanagan, counsel with Thomas Plunket for the defendant Weeks, asked the court to permit an examination of the minutes of the grand jury which returned an indictment charging attempted murder and also the minutes of the grand jury which this spring apparently reconsidered the matter and returned an indictment charging murder, second degree, as well as assault.

Floyd Weeks was first charged with attempted murder and assault following the death of his aged uncle. It was alleged that strychnine poison was put in a bottle of liquor which the elderly man drank. He later died at the Kingston Hospital and at the time the cause of death was given as pneumonia and that strychnine poison and acute upper respiratory infection were contributing causes.

Mr. Flanagan in asking for an inspection of the grand jury minutes directed his application to both the minutes of the first grand jury which returned an indictment charging attempted murder and also the latter indictment which charges murder, second degree. He told the court that at the time of the bringing of the first indictment the facts relative to the cause of death must have been in the hands of the grand jury and that the death certificate signed by Dr. Krom must have been before the grand jury when the first charge was drawn. He argued that if the acts of the defendant were the cause of death of Henry Weeks, that fact must have been or should have been known on the first investigation.

Since the death certificate states the cause of death to be pneumonia, Mr. Flanagan told the court that with the facts before the first grand jury and its resulting indictment of attempted murder, he failed to see how a second grand jury could find a murder charge.

He also told the court that the prosecution had promised to dismiss the first indictment at the time the second charge was filed but this later was refused.

N. LeVan Haver appeared for the prosecution and argued that the second indictment had been based on legal evidence and told the court that on the evidence presented to the second grand jury that body had seen fit to place a charge of murder. He asked that the application be denied.

Lincoln's Death Shawl Moves Veterans To Tears

Stockton, Calif. (AP)—The shawl Abraham Lincoln wore the night of his assassination is more important to Civil War veterans than any modern engineering wonders—and a pretty young businesswoman has proved it.

It happened this way: The chief bidders for the 1937 convention of the California G. A. R. were this city and Berkeley. Spellbinders from the latter city painted a glowing picture of the two great bridges on San Francisco bay—$100,000,000 worth of steelwork, the modern wonders of the world!

Remembers Shawl

Mrs. Betty Perrin, who runs Stockton's convention bureau, saw her hopes slipping until she remembered the shawl. It is owned by her mother, Mrs. William R. Harr of Washington, D. C.

"I got up and told them about it," Mrs. Perrin related. "I called it a bridge to the past. Pretty soon I was crying. The old soldiers began to cry. They voted for Stockton."

Having promised the shawl, the young promoter induced her mother to pack it in asbestos, insure it for $10,000 and ship it west for its first public display. Armed guards watched it day and night.

Covered Dead President

Still stained with Lincoln's blood, the wrap is a striking reminder of the tragic night of April 14, 1865, when the President was fatally wounded by John Wilkes Booth, an actor in Ford's theater, Washington. The shawl covered him when he died in the home of William Peterson, a tailor, across the street.

Mrs. Harr is related to Alexander Williamson, who was tutor for Lincoln's son Tad. Williamson's mother presented it to the President and the family still treasures the latter's letter of thanks.

After the assassination, Lincoln's widow sent the shawl to Mr. Williamson with several other mementoes of her husband.

MINING OF METALS IN MONTANA BOOMS

World Rearmament Opens Up Steady Market.

Butte, Mont.—Montana mining of numerous metals is enjoying a heartening boom engendered by high gold prices, industrial recovery, and demand for raw materials to supply world armament needs.

A record of 35 per cent increased production in 1936 over 1935 was attained and even greater increase is considered by mining experts to be in the making for 1937.

Pay rolls are near world war and predepression highs. In tiny, remote mining camps high in the mountains, as well as in the famed super-diggings here on "the richest hill on earth," the boom is on. The new-found prosperity has brought a resurgent optimism and capital is finding its way into the development of new workings and in increased operation of established properties.

Changes in the law which enable the lone miner or prospector to sell in small quantities to the mints without employment of a middleman have led many veterans and novices of the pan and pick into the hills and along the streams in quest of gold and silver. A gold price of approximately $35 an ounce makes small operations profitable.

According to the United States bureau of mines, Montana in 1936 produced $41,857,000 worth of gold, silver, lead, copper and zinc. The 1935 values were $30,918,000. Last year's gold production was $6,263,000, about 179,000 ounces. The 1935 values were $5,258,081—about 151,000 ounces. Nearly all of the increase was believed to have come from two huge placer properties, the Porter at Helena and the Humphrey at old Virginia City, of pioneer vigilante fame. The Humphrey concern, operating the world's largest dry land tractor gold recovery dredge, originally was financed at Virginia City by a New Deal industrial loan.

Proportionate increases were registered in silver, lead and zinc.

Road Study Casts Light on Auto Tire Punctures

London.—An exhaustive inquiry into the causes and cures of automobile tire punctures has just been concluded in Great Britain by 1,000 roads patrols.

The investigation, confined largely to the main roads of the country, was organized by the Automobile association after it had received many complaints that modern methods of road surfacing, combined with the higher braking power and quicker acceleration possessed by cars, shortened the life of the best tires by several thousand miles.

An analysis of the return shows that three-quarters of the punctures that came under the notice of the observers were in the rear tires, and that of the number two-thirds were in tires on the near side rear wheel. The explanation was simple. Any loose material on a roadway is scattered by passing cars to the edge of the highway, and the small flints and stone dressing lie there ready to embed themselves in the tires of the cars that follow.

The rear tires, being on the driving wheels, are more prone to suffer first; and the near side tires are those which come into contact with the most generous share of sharp points. The remedy suggested by an A. A. official is more careful road surfacing and systematic road cleansing, with more attention to the sides.

Robert Lincoln's Life Saved by Edwin Booth

Washington.—A story that the life of Abraham Lincoln's late son, Robert Todd Lincoln, was saved by Edwin Booth, actor and brother of John Wilkes Booth, was told here by persons close to the Lincoln family who asked that their identity not be disclosed.

Robert Lincoln, who was president of the Pullman company, told an intimate associate that as he was boarding a Washington-bound train at Jersey City his foot slipped and he feared that he would slide under the wheels.

Suddenly a firm hand grasped his shoulder and pulled him out. He not only thanked Edwin Booth for the rescue, but remembered the incident until the last days of his life.

Urges Husbands to Sing in the Bath

Cincinnati, O.—What this country needs, said Dr. Thomas James Kelly, is "not more professional vocalists but a whole army of bathroom singers."

Widely known as a musical authority, Dr. Kelly spoke before the closing session of a regional conference on adult education.

America's bathing tenors need not press the issue too hard in order to indulge their artistry, he suggested, "admitting" the possibility that too often any suppression was due to "their wives and families."

"Wives should not only encourage their husbands to sing in the bathtub," declared Dr. Kelly, "but they should even bring them out into the living room singing."

Edgar E. Schryver, a well known and highly respected resident of this city, died last evening following a short illness. He was born in this city and had a host of friends who will deeply mourn his death. He was secretary of Excelsior Hose Co., which position he had held for over 50 years. He was married to Minnie Roe, who died about seven years ago and leaves two sons, Clarence and Harry Schryver. The interment will be in the family plot in Wiltwyck rural cemetery.

Peekskill, May 15.—Dudley C. C. Hasbrouck, descendant of one of the families which settled the Hudson valley, died at his home here late Thursday night. He was 85 years old. The Hasbrouck family founded New Paltz after coming to America in 1690. The great great-grandfather of Dudley C. Hasbrouck built the homestead at Newburgh which was George Washington's headquarters during the Revolution and is now a national shrine. Mr. Hasbrouck has been the treasurer of Centennial Hose Co. in Peekskill since it was founded in 1876, and was a director of the Field Library for 40 years. He was to have been nominated as a fire department trustee for the 47th time at a meeting Friday. Before his retirement ten years ago he was an official of the Union Stove Works.

"Taupe" of French Origin

The color term "taupe" originated in France in the early Nineteenth century and was immediately adopted into English. The word, according to the Maerz and Paul "Dictionary of Color," means "mole"—the name of the little burrowing animal.

ETIQUETTE

Expert Tells How to Mobilize Principals in Wedding March

By JOAN DURHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

From June to October there's no holiday for Miss Mary C. Hanlon, office secretary of New York's "Little Church Around the Corner."

In that time Miss Hanlon is deluged with questions by flustered brides and bridegrooms. (In 1935—top year—the church was the scene of 2,356 weddings.) Miss Hanlon has been deluged for 21 years, ever since she went to the church, "to help out for a few days."

What do they ask her? And what are the answers?

Where Party Stands

They want to know where the bride party members stand. The bride stands at the bridegroom's left—facing the clergyman and the altar. The best man stands at the bridegroom's right. The maid of honor (matron of honor, if she's married) stands at the bride's left.

Where the rest of the members of the party are located depends on the way the altar is built and the preferences of the bride and bridegroom. The only thing to remember is that the bride's family should be seated at the left of the church (facing the altar) while the bridegroom's family is on the right.

The bride's father should stand a little to the rear of the bride until he gives his daughter in marriage. Then he should join his wife, who is seated in the first row of the pews in the left section.

The bridesmaids and ushers, if there are any, should be grouped so that they form as handsome a setting as possible for the bride party.

Order of Procession

What about a procession? The two shortest ushers ordinarily lead, with the rest following, two by two. The bridesmaids, arranged according to height, come next by twos. Then comes the flower girl, if there is one. All these groups are four paces apart. The bride and her father—

Now's the time to store winter clothes and bedding. Clean and air them thoroughly in the sun. Sort them carefully in newspapers. Then place them in boxes that are covered tightly. Label each box carefully and store those that may be needed in convenient places. Blankets, especially, are often necessary during cool spells.

To keep sandwiches fresh for a day, wrap them in waxed paper and place in a box lined with a damp cloth. Put on the lid and cover the box with a second damp cloth. The sandwiches may then be stored in a refrigerator.

Liquid left over from mustard pickles is excellent to mix with chopped meat or fish and use in sandwich fillings.

If coconut seems too dry, soak it in milk for five minutes. Then drain it for use in cookies, cakes, frostings or puddings.

Squares of bacon placed on small pieces of buttered bread and spread with catsup, pickle relish and onion rings may be browned and served hot or cold as canapés with cocktails.

Salad dressing adds flavor to hot cooked asparagus. Allow about two tablespoonsful of dressing for each two cups of asparagus. Dressing also may be used with other hot cooked vegetables, such as broccoli, lima or green beans, beets, cauliflower and onions.

To clean chintz draperies or furniture covers brush them with clean, stiff brush that is dipped frequently in cold water. The work should be done quickly.

The cocktail hour calls for cheeses with a tang while those that have a milder flavor may be served during the tea hour.

Sugar, added in the proportion of a fourth of a teaspoon to two cups of vegetable, will improve the flavor of cooked peas, corn, lima beans or beets. The sugar should be added just before the vegetable is served.

Cheese sauce poured over buttered shrimps or tuna fish makes a tasty luncheon, supper or light dinner dish.

Wedding engagements may be announced by placing small bags of rice at each plate. Each bag should contain the names of the engaged couple.

A little mint flavoring adds interest to chocolate ice cream pudding or pie filling. One-fourth of a teaspoon of almond extract may be added.

Jellies and jams usually will become firm enough to serve if they are allowed to set over night. If they are still a little thin the containers in which they are placed may be put in a sunny spot for several days. Tender jellies are much more desirable than those that are stiff and rubbery.

To remove skins from tomatoes, place the tomatoes on a fork and hold them over a fire. Turn them constantly until the skin becomes slightly charred or bursts. (About two minutes will be long enough.) The skin may be removed then with a sharp knife. The amount of heat will not affect the firmness or flavor of the tomato.

Weddings Now More Luxurious; Real Lace Returning For Gowns

BRIDAL NEGLIGENCE

Complete feminine is the bridal negligee of white chiffon designed by Helene Kirn. The long, unbroken, draped lines—inspired by the early Greeks—are marked only by the use of silver cords at the neck and waistline. The three-quarter length lace jacket is peach-colored.

By JOAN DURHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

This year's bride will trail down the aisle in more finery than for many seasons.

Daddy America is more able, financially, to send his daughter forth in grand style.

New York's "wedding embassy," which decks out many a socialite for her wedding day, estimates that its business has increased 50 per cent. Jewelers, florists, lingerie and trousseau shops—all of them make similar reports.

Real lace is finding an open market for the first time in nearly a dozen seasons. It is being used widely in bridal veils and in wedding gowns.

Bridal parties, too, are larger and are dressed more elaborately. Where once two bridesmaids and perhaps a maid of honor were included in the bridal party, groups of six and even eight bridesmaids are now in order.

All-White Bridal Gown

This year's bride is selecting an all-white wedding gown—in contrast to the off-white and cream shades of a year ago. It comes in a variety of styles and a variety of materials.

One of the newest bridal gowns designed by Leonora Ormsby—it has short-sleeved bridesmaids' dresses to match—is of all-white starched chiffon with graduated satin stripes. The skirt is cut in gores in which the stripes meet in zigzag bias effect. The neck is heart-shaped and low and the sleeves are long and slightly puffed. With it is worn a cap of the same material and a long silk net veil.

Schiaparelli uses the traditional white satin in a long-sleeved, high-necked dress cut on princess lines. She also places a group of tiny birds in the confluence of the bride who wears it.

Pastel colors in garden flower shades are popular selections for bridesmaids, who carry colorful old-fashioned bouquets of garden flowers. (Budget bride please note.)

Turquoise A Favorite

Turquoise blue is a special favor.

WEDDING GOWN

A summer bride wears the traditional white silk satin wedding gown and a double-tiered skirt. The dress has short, puffed sleeves, a halter treatment at the neck and an extremely full skirt which falls from a tight-fitting bodice. A fan of lilies-of-the-valley make her bouquet.

One recent bride had all six of her bridesmaids dressed in that color. Each bridesmaid carried an armful of yellow tulips.

Bridesmaids in another group wore white bouffant dresses with wide red sashes.

The 1937 June bride still chooses the traditional white satin or chalk white French slippers for herself. (Several of the newest crepe slippers are cut on Vallyrie lines.) But her bridesmaids are selecting the newest of the colorful spring and summer shoes, many of which have open toes and open heels.

Flower fans made of lilies-of-the-valley and mounted on bamboo sticks are the latest news in bridal bouquets.

Bridal hairpieces, too, reflects the trend toward rejuvenated luxury. Satin—in white, maize or light pastel tints—has applique touches of hand-run Alençon or Valenciennes lace. And the sheerest of chiffons, cut on Grecian or princess lines, are draped elaborately and ruffled in some of the most feminine bridal ensembles of a decade.

Beauty

Home Facial Advised As Prenuptial Pick-Up

AIDS TO BRIDAL BEAUTY

Geneva Sawyer, motion picture actress, shows brides-to-be how to relax between social engagements. Stretched full length, she takes a facial during the rest period. Pads moistened with astringent are part of the ritual.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

(AP Feature Service Writer)

There is such a thing as overdoing preparations for the wedding.

By the time the last gift has been listed and the rehearsal supper is over the bride often is too tired to be interested in her satin gown. And if she's not careful, she'll feel like snapping at her husband the moment the title becomes his.

So here's a word of beauty advice to add to the last words of rejected suitors and relatives-to-be:

Take a little time off between social functions for complete relaxation. Fifteen minutes can make a world of difference, if that time is spent stretched out, with every muscle at ease.

But, the bride counters, relaxing is much easier to preach than to practice. Especially when the brain is whirling with all the last-minute details of the fifteen-minute ceremony.

But it can be done. Begin with a long stretch, extending feet and hands as far as possible.

Then deliberately try to sink as far into the mattress as possible. If toes are jumpy, don't ignore them and hope they'll relax. Concentrate on them; they'll stop twitching.

Take A Facial At Home

If social engagements permit a half-hour of rest, even though sleep is out of the question, take a facial.

Cover the face with plenty of cleansing cream, then wipe it thoroughly. The lines in the forehead and under the chin should be rubbed in a circular motion as the cream is applied.

Then spread on a thin coat of cleansing cream, to be left on while resting. Later, after it has been washed off, apply a little ice to the final smooth finish.

For a particularly soothing treatment moisten pads of cotton with favorite astringent, and place them over the eyes.

If time permits, take a hot bath before resting, in water that is fragrant with plenty of bath salts. Follow it with a shower in water of body temperature. (Colder water will act as a stimulus, and will not relax you.)

Wedding-Day Cosmetics

A word about wedding cosmetics. There's a superstition that the bride should go to the altar looking as natural as possible. But that doesn't mean she should spurn cosmetics.

It simply means that she should wear the same shade of rouge she usually does and stick to the same lipstick.

Following the same principle, she shouldn't wait until the last minute to get a wave. At least 24 hours should be allowed to give her hair time to loosen up and look more natural.

FASHION FANCIES

New York (AP)—Linen sportswear comes forth these warm spring days in combinations of pink and gray. Pink blouses are worn with gray skirts, shorts and slacks. The same shades are carried over into bathing suits.

New York (AP)—Summer dresses of conservative printed materials are combined with wide-brimmed hats in matching print. The hats have no crown, and are modeled after bridesmaids' millinery.

New York (AP)—New York stores

are offering two-piece pajamas in summer wear. Broadcloth is one of the most popular materials. Jumpsuits show a particular fondness for striped and checked nightgowns.

A balloon centerpiece in the middle of the party table appeals to youngsters. Select balloons of different sizes, shapes and colors to place in a low bowl. The balloons, of course, serve as favors for the youngsters to take home.

Leftover potatoes and rice are quickly, especially in warm weather. Before putting them in the refrigerator, arrange them in a layer in a shallow pan.

Salad Days Have Come Again

INDIVIDUAL SALADS

A tempting variety of salads is displayed on the hostess tray arranged by Mrs. Alexander George, special foods writer. At each end are tomato "baskets" filled with cucumbers and asparagus. In the center is a salad of beet and carrot balls. The other two salads are made of cottage cheese topped with pimiento-stuffed olives.

COOK WILL GET A

CHANCE TO SHOW OFF

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Every hostess treasures her favorite salad recipes as her husband treasures his choicest stories. For there are many occasions when she will need them—many afternoon bridges, informal luncheons and Sunday suppers when the proper salad will be the thing to make her party successful.

Salads are especially appropriate for serving in the late spring and summertime. They are simple to prepare. They make colorful additions to the outdoor table setting. And they are not too filling for appetites tuned to the lazy summer tempo.

Tomato "Baskets"

The tomato "baskets" in the illustration were made by removing the skin from the tomatoes, cutting out the core with a sharp knife and scraping out seeds and pulp with a spoon. Then the tomatoes were inverted and chilled until serving time, when they were stuffed quickly with thin slices of cucumber and two-inch sticks of cooked asparagus. "Handles" of thin green pepper strips and a few slices of radishes were added as garnishes.

Tomato baskets also are good stuffed with fish, chicken, veal or cheese salads. Or they may be filled with a mixture of finely minced onions, cucumbers, green beans and radishes—moistened with French dressing to which a little Roquefort cheese has been added.

Beet and Carrot Balls

The salad in the middle of the tray consists of beet and carrot balls mixed together and seasoned with horseradish, minced onion and celery salt. The balls were made after the vegetables were cooked with a French vegetable cutter which costs about ten cents. French dressing was added just before the salad was served. Cottage cheese molds topped with salad dressing and pimiento-stuffed olives slices added a pleasing contrast. The cheese, well seasoned, was pressed into cups to make round molds which were later unmolded onto crisp lettuce.

Numerous other attractive salads may also be prepared.

Cucumber "Boxes"

Cucumber "boxes", for instance, may be made by hollowing three-inch pieces of cucumbers and filling them with shrimp salad mixtures or just plain shrimps and sauce.

White cherries blend well with grapefruit and pineapple in a refreshing fruit salad. Melon balls—cantaloupe, honeydew and watermelon—are very appetizing served after they have been chilled thoroughly and topped with chopped mint and French dressing.

Tomato slices, too, are tasty spread with fish or cheese paste, cut into cubes and piled on lettuce or other salad greens.

Washington Women

Isabelle Story Works So Others May Play

By SIGRID ARNE

(AP Feature Service Writer)

Washington—Isabelle Story, one of the few women who head divisions in the interior department, is the person who tells millions of Americans every year where to vacation in the national parks—and where to fry their eggs once they get there.

Last year 10,000,000 persons cavorted in the parks. But not Miss Story. She hasn't had a vacation in years. She's never made a camp fire.

She gets into the parks, of course. She has seen them all. But she goes through them with her notebook open much like a busy grocer looking over his window in the morning.

Job Grew Like Topsy

She came to government service in 1916, a blue-eyed youngster from Chicago with blonde, curly hair about her ears. She was somebody's secretary. Then too many queries came in about the parks and somebody else said, "Let Miss Story answer them." She did, and now she has a suite of six offices, and a staff of 14.

She can tell where to find a picnic ground near a Spanish mission in Arizona; where to register at an expensive hotel in the Rockies; and how to get smelts to fry in New England.

Gets Lowdown On Visits

These facts pour out from Miss Story's office in booklets, magazine articles, posters for railway stations, radio speeches.

To gather her information, Miss Story has visited all the parks, except Hawaii and Alaska. And she hopes to go to them, too. Some times the inspection trips are a bit rough and ready. She has to learn horsemanship riding, for instance, but did it pretty much the way she took her job. Just got on the horse and rode.

ISABELLE STORY Knows Her Parks

She has found, too, that Indian sign language comes instinctively to anyone who needs it badly. Time her car bogged down in southern Utah, there wasn't a live creature in sight. After three hours an ancient Indian came by, but couldn't understand English. So Isabelle, or any of the half dozen dialects Miss Story knows, made her hands go like a man riding horseback.

Horse Monument To Her. The Indian's face lit up 70 hours later he returned with mules and three grandsons. Soon had Miss Story's car out of the mudhole.

In Grand Canyon there's a monument to Miss Story. He's a long-legged, has a long smooth tail and two long ears. His name is "Isabelle." The park rangers name him for her. They wrote in about him recently, saying, "Isabelle developed a real sweet disposition just like yours."

NEW BROADWAY
AUDITORIUM

662 Broadway At Downs St.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Recently a correspondent suggested that I write about what high school students should see while visiting New York. It's rather a large order but I'll try to fill it in part at least. The Battery may be seen and possibly an incoming or outgoing ocean liner. The Aquarium is also at the Battery and there a boat may be taken for the Statue of Liberty, which will afford an opportunity for climbing. The boat also passes close to Ellis Island, the gateway to the New World. Or for a nickel each way, a municipal ferry may be taken to St. George, Staten Island, with an excellent view of the harbor. On the return, there is old Trinity church at the head of Wall street, occupying one of the most valuable pieces of land in the world and with a cemetery going away back into the past of New York. Almost in the shadow of old Trinity is the Stock Exchange, which may be visited during market hours. Across from the Stock Exchange is a statue which marks the place where George Washington took the oath as the first President of the United States.

On the way uptown, a stop should be made at St. Paul's chapel where George Washington used to be a member of the congregation, his pew being marked by the great seal of the United States. Near St. Paul's is City Hall, which goes away back to 1812. Across from City Hall is Brooklyn bridge, the first span across the East river and still doing full service after more than 50 years. If there is time, a walk across the bridge is interesting because of views of the busy river. On the Brooklyn side, there is the navy yard. The Woolworth building, for many years the highest office building in the world, has lost that distinction but many visitors still visit the tower to get a view of downtown New York. Farther uptown is the Empire State building with a tower 102 floors above the street and with a view extending for miles.

A bus ride up Riverside Drive is always interesting and is even more so if there are any warships in port since they anchor in the Hudson. A bus ride up Fifth avenue is also interesting. By making a transfer, it is possible to ride through Harlem, which is the largest colored city in the world. Or, a ride may be taken up to the George Washington bridge, the first and only bridge to cross the Hudson in New York City. A view of the Palisades may also be had on that trip. On the Fifth avenue trip, the bus passes St. Patrick's cathedral and far uptown is the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. A bus top view of New York is inexpensive and worth while.

As for museums, the Metropolitan is naturally the objective of those interested in art. Then there is the Museum of Natural History, which has such an array of exhibits that even days might be spent there. The Hayden Planetarium should not be overlooked by those interested in astronomy or those to whom the stars are a mystery. Still another museum is in Rockefeller Center, the Museum of Science and Industry. Instead of being a "hands off" museum it is a "hands on" place, visitors being invited to operate the various exhibits. It is also a museum of motion since almost all the exhibits can be worked by the visitor.

Bronx Park zoo, with its collection of animals, is worth the long ride out into the Bronx. Downtown again, there is old Fraunces Tavern where George Washington said good-bye to his officers after the Revolution. It too, is a museum now. Uptown is the Jumel mansion, which was Washington's headquarters. Uptown also is Columbia university. Then trips through the New York Times building can be arranged. Times Square is most interesting at night when all the lights are blazing. As for a play, if it is still running, "King Richard II" should not be overlooked. It's interesting to non-Shakespearean students. And here I am at the end of the space without having covered nearly all the ground. But the suggestions made will keep the young visitors busy for quite awhile. © Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Ban German Stamp in Czechoslovakia

Prague, Czechoslovakia. — Police confiscated the latest issue of German stamps bearing Adolf Hitler's image.

They took them from stamp dealers' windows, because, they said, each block of four stamps bore a slogan from Hitler's "My Struggle," saying: "He who wants to save the people can only think heroically."

Prague authorities said that was calculated to create public irritation.

Tiger Chief Predicts LaGuardia's Defeat

Lift in Palace Chief Delight of Princess, 6

London. — Flaxen haired, blue eyed, six-year-old Princess Margaret Rose, daughter of the king and queen, has discovered the delights of running the elevator at Buckingham palace.

The quarters of Princess Elizabeth, ten, and Margaret Rose are on the second floor of the palace. Their nurses use the self-working electric elevator when they take the children to see their parents on the ground floor.

The first time they used the elevator Margaret Rose gazed silently at the row of buttons. She watched her nurse push one and felt the elevator descending. It was a new and delightful sensation.

When the elevator stopped at the ground floor Margaret Rose refused to leave it. She wanted to push buttons, too. "Let me do it. Let me do it," she clamored.

Finally her nurse gave way and lifted the baby princess in her arms. But Margaret Rose pushed the wrong button and the elevator rushed to the basement. Margaret Rose was delighted.

Now, however, she has learned that the white button is "down" and the black button "up." And it is her daily treat—if she has been good—when she and her sister join the king and queen for afternoon tea, to stand on the seat and work the elevator.

Chinchilla Goes A-Begging

London.—A full-length chinchilla coat, said to be one of less than a dozen of its kind in the world, was offered for auction here recently, but there was no sale. The reserve price was $10,000, and the auctioneer suggested $3,000 as a starting bid, but nobody was willing to offer even that.

Parson Brownlaw

Parson Brownlaw was a camp meeting convert from the mountains of Tennessee who rose to fame as a lay preacher on a circuit including five states. He used as weapons the Bible and a pistol, and had few equals as a master of invective, says the Washington Star. He spared no man or issue in his vitriolic attacks. The following example of his lusty eloquence is from a lecture he made shortly after the Civil war: "If I had been authorized some two or three years ago to select about two or three hundred of your most abominable anti-slavery agitators in the North, and an equal number of God-forsaken and hell-deserving Disunionists at the South, and had marched them to the District of Columbia, hanged them on a common gallows, dug for them a common grave and embalmed their bodies in jimson weed and dog-fennel, there would have been none of this trouble."

Swedish Delegate To The Coronation

Princess Margareta of Sweden, three-year-old daughter of Prince Gustaf Adolf and Princess Sibylla, made her first trip abroad to attend the coronation in London, and to make the acquaintance of Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

Man, Your Story Is News, Too! LET THEM KNOW IT!

Lots of people tell us, "Gosh, it must be a hard job to write a newspaper!" "Well, they're wrong. They're simply all wet. Our big job, getting out a paper, is to gather, edit, set up, print and distribute the news before it's cold. It isn't hard to write the news—because real news writes itself! All our reporters have to do is to answer the vital question "Who? What? Where? When? Why? Then they let the facts tell their own story."

Now—the text books may not say so, but all that goes for advertising, too! Clothe your advertising message with the fast-moving informative authenticity of a live news-story—and it's our bet that your goods will move quicker! Why? Because readers are hungry for news and every advertiser's story, well told, is news!

Tell 'em WHO: Make sure the reader sees YOUR name!

Tell 'em WHAT: Let every reader, every buyer know what your stuff looks like, what color it is, what it's made of—in a word, how good it is!

SERIAL "FENCES" TO BALK AIR ATTACKS

Plan Balloon Aprons to Guard London.

Washington, D. C.—Balloons tethered in the air more than 30,000 feet above London, and trailing wires from serial "fences" which will enclose the city—such will be the fantastic picture if Great Britain carries out one of her proposed plans for defense against invading airplanes. To fly high enough to surmount these barriers, reaching almost into the stratosphere, planes would have to carry oxygen apparatus and but few bombs.

In planning to protect London a group of balloons, British authorities are not entering a wholly new field, says the National Geographic society. "Towards the close of the World War, air raids on London were made less effective by balloon aprons.

"Sausage-shaped kite balloons, protected by airplanes, were suspended 500 feet apart, at about 10,000 feet above the city and were anchored to the ground by long cables. From horizontal cables, linking each trio of balloons, hung long streamers of piano wire, forming aprons of vertical strands, somewhat like those which herald railroad's approach to a tunnel. The wires, strong enough to damage wooden propellers or wings of attacking planes, forced flyers to climb above them, or to descend cautiously low to pass beneath them. Perhaps their greatest value was the psychological effect they had on pilots.

Kite Balloons Aid Navy.
"Great Britain also found kite balloons an aid to her navy. Observers on a balloon, towed along several hundred feet above a destroyer, could spot a periscope or the wake of a submarine long before it was visible from the bridge. Through a telephone wire in the cable connecting the balloon to ship, the balloonist could direct the ship's attack on the underwater menace.

"Some balloons, floating like toys above battleships, were effective deterrents of submarine attacks, though innocuous in themselves. Small dummies, carrying crews of dummy men, they created the illusion of large observation balloons flying at a great height.

"Hundreds of captive balloons were used for observation purposes in both sides all along the Western front. Since their contents were highly inflammable, airplanes attacked them with sky rockets instead of bullets.

"Unmanned, top-shaped balloons about eight feet high, and made of paper, were sent up by the British. These released over German lines, and to a distance of fifty miles beyond them, bundles of propaganda leaflets, printed in German, meant to undermine enemy morale.

"Balloons were first put to a military use in France. At the battle of Fleurus in Belgium on June 26, 1794, Captain J. M. Coutelle, the world's first military balloon observer, floated in his balloon, L'Entrepreneur (The Venturesome), above the cannon flashes and clouds of smoke of the opposing French and Austrian armies. By signaling with flags to the French artillery, Coutelle demoralized the Austrians, and was an important factor in the French victory.

"During the siege of Paris in 1870-1871, balloons played a strategic part.

Used in Civil War.
"About a decade earlier, balloons proved effective in the American Civil War. Union forces had several in which observers hovered over the countryside, looking down with all-seeing eyes on Confederate camps and armies. News of Confederate evacuations, bridge building operations, or other supposedly secret military maneuvers were immediately telegraphed to Union headquarters over a wire to the ground. This was the first time that air dispatches had been telegraphed from the air.

"Realizing the advantage of an observation balloon, but too poor to buy one, the Confederate Army collected the silk dresses of Richmond women and out of them made a patchwork balloon, like Joseph's coat, of many colors, striped, pleated, and flower-sprigged. Southern belles made their sacrifices in vain, for their ball gowns, sewed together and oiled and varnished, made only one ascent before the balloon was captured by the Federals. A scrap of this balloon, brown and shrouded with age, is preserved in the aeronautical exhibit of the Smithsonian Museum in Washington, D. C."

Celluloid Collar Plant Makes Its Sales Abroad
Harrisburg, Pa.—What is believed to be the last celluloid collar factory in the United States is operated in Harrisburg by Clyde Kramer.

The vanishing industry is conducted in a two-story shop. Kramer and his brother handle the entire output. Kramer, whose business is largely with foreign countries, doesn't sell a single collar in Pennsylvania and says that "it will take a revolution to bring the celluloid neckwear back in the United States."

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

National League batter takes warning. Dizzy Dean is on the war-path.

All because those pounding Pirates from Pittsburgh plastered the season's most effective pitcher with the greatest of ease yesterday, the great one has the bit in his teeth.

"Just watch me the next time out," he told anyone who would listen today. "I'll really be fogging 'em in."

And if he's anything like he was until yesterday's 14-4 beating ended his string of five straight, "Ole Diz" will be plenty tough from here on in.

Until he and the Cardinals were given a thorough going over in the smoky city, Dean had been plain and fancy poison to opposition batters. He had allowed just two earned runs in 46 innings, had muffed the enemy with 38 hits and 40 strikeouts, and had compiled an earned run average of 0.40.

He lasted three innings and three straight Pittsburgh hits in the fourth frame before he took a walk yesterday, but still only two of the five runs scored off him were earned, since an error figured in three of them. As a result, his effectiveness still remained at something under one-run per nine-inning game, which comes under the head of pretty fair country pitching.

After he'd slept on it, Dizzy wasn't sore at the Pirates. He gave them credit for the 20 hits they banged all over the lot.

"After all," he summed it up today, "when you get your ears pinned back, there ain't nuthin' to say. And believe me, fellas, my ears were pinned way back."

The victory for the Pittsburghs tightened their hold on the National League lead by a full game. They go into their home stand now with a 3½ edge on the second-place Cards.

Rain washed out all the rest of the National League program, as well as all but one tilt in the American. In that game, outside of the 6-5 surprise the St. Louis Browns handed the Detroit Tigers, the outstanding development was the way it shook up the standings.

The victory boosted the Browns to sixth place, over the hapless White Sox, and dropped the teetering Tigers into the second division, with the Yankees taking sole possession of third place and the Boston Red Sox advancing to fourth, although both were idle.

A recapitulation of the just-concluded first invasion by the western clubs in the National League and the eastern outfits in the American, shows the Philadelphia Athletics far and away the most successful. The astonishing A's won six of seven starts for first place in the American League. In the rival loop, the Pirates' nine wins in 11 games topped everything in sight.

Chicago Promoters Favored by Court

New York, May 15 (AP)—Elated by a Federal Court decision in their favor, Chicago promoters went ahead today with preparations for the Braddock-Louis championship fight June 22 at Madison Square Garden. Officials considered an appeal to a higher court.

While promoters of the Chicago bout between Champion Jim Braddock and Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber, looked for no further legal obstacles, New York promoters indicated they would not accept as final Federal Judge Guy L. Fike's decision in Newark yesterday.

He denied the Garden's request for a temporary injunction to restrain Braddock, who is under contract to fight Max Schmeling in the Garden June 3, from meeting Louis in Chicago.

Feller Graduates Rejoins Cleveland

Van Meter, Ia., May 15 (AP)—Van Meter settled back to a more normal pace today after sending his hero, Bob Feller, back to the major league wars with a high school diploma.

Bob left shortly after the ceremonies for Chicago, where he will rejoin the Cleveland team, his arm "all set to go" after a week's rest. Out of action since April 24, Bob said he hoped to work against the Yankees in New York next week-end.

The Conic Hand

The Conic hand is medium-sized, tapering slightly in the palm. The fingers are long and tapering, full at the base and slightly pointed at the nail. With this kind of hand, according to a writer in Pearson's London Weekly, you are artistic and luxury-loving, but are inclined to be over-impulsive and indolent.

Not for you is the strife of the world and you would far sooner be left to vegetate in some quiet backwater of life. Emotional and sensitive you have in you the qualities of the great artist and the world-famous musician. However, whether or not you will make use of these fine qualities depends largely on whether or not your hands are hard and firm. The firmer they are the more likely it is that you will make your mark in the world.

"Ringside Seats" for Battle

The only real naval battle for which excursion boats sold "ring-side seats" took place in the English Channel on June 19, 1864, according to Collier's Weekly. The American Union ship Kearsarge was about to attack the Confederate cruiser Alabama—docked at Cherbourg, France—when French officials warned its captain to do his fighting outside of the three-mile limit. Three days later the battle took place, before thousands of "fight fans" from France and England.

Aussie Aces

—By Pap

The first round of Davis cup competition is a thing of the past. Perhaps we misused the word "competition." There really wasn't much of it in the first round, the opening festivities being mainly a formality to dispense with as quickly and painlessly as possible. Because there is rarely any competition in the opening matches of Davis cup seasons, the early lobs and serves almost never give any indication of what is to come later.

So it was this year. Before the U.S. trounced Japan and before Australia wrecked Mexico, the main question in Davis cup circles was: "Will the Americans, or the Australians, meet Britain's Perryless and not-so-perilous netters in final play for the cup?" The question is still before the house. The question will be decided at Forest Hills, Long Island, May 29-31—assuming the winners at Forest Hills defeat Europe's challengers.

Who will be who at Forest Hills? Well, the Aussies are up with Vivian McGrath, Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist, with Jack Bromwich as the No. 1 substitute. Bromwich defeated Esteban M. Rovers in Mexico City, and showed he had a strong racquet on the ball. He didn't show enough, though, to be named as a starter against the U.S.

Quist and Crawford will handle the doubles assignment for the Australians. They didn't have to show much at Mexico City, but they did demonstrate they were an even match for the Yank doubles team this year.

Who will be who among the Americans? To face the Nipponese, the Davis cup committee selected the perfect team—on paper. For singles, Donald Budge and Franklin Parker, No. 1 and No. 2 ranking players, respectively. For doubles, Budge and Gene Mako, the national championship doubles team.

Budge is of course certain to play at Forest Hills in both singles and doubles. He and Mako should be stronger than they were in '36. They should be ready for Onsi and Crawford.

Parker didn't hurt himself any when he beat Yamashita, Japanese singles, and doubles champion, in San Francisco. Frankie was supposed to lose that match. To retain his singles assignment, Parker will have to beat out Bltry Grant and Joseph Hunt. He may do it.

LEWIS DEFEATS PERRONI IN GARDEN TUNE-UP BOUT

John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, won his tune-up bout with Patsy Perrott of Cleveland, Friday night in Madison Square Garden, in preparation for the 6-6-6, this week, will hold a practice bout in his crown against Bob Olla at St. Louis, June 3.

A capacity house looked on as Joey Turk made good his threat to beat Kid Chappie, Friday night, at the municipal auditorium, where he scored a technical knockout in the fourth round.

Turk rushed Chappie across the ring in the fourth, and as the Kid came off of the ropes, he neglected to protect his jaw. Joey crashed a hard right which dazed him, then belted away with a barrage of lefts and rights that made Chappie wilt.

As Chappie went down, he clung to Turk, dragging him half way, and Referee Bill Singer realizing his weakness waved the bout off, awarding the decision to Joey on a technical knockout.

"These amateur kids are supposed to be protected," said Singer to one fan who thought the clash should have gone on. "Chappie was in no condition to carry on, and another punch might have resulted in an injury for the rest of his life."

Friends of Chappie, working in his corner, said they were glad Singer stopped the fight, showing mercy to their companion.

After the battle the boys shook hands in their dressing rooms, banishing all feeling that was evident during the bout.

In the first round, the "bad blood" was evident when Chappie pushed Turk to the canvas. However, it was not until the fourth stanza that the ill feeling hit the "white heat" pitch.

The first round went to Chappie by virtue of his left jab, which he used to good advantage. Turk looked like the master during the second, when the two slugged it out, going back to his boxing tactics. Chappie copped the third, but failed to keep his guard up in the fourth only to stop one of Turk's hard rights, which resulted in his downfall.

Danny Romano, the Beacon featherweight, whom Chappie beat in Poughkeepsie, Wednesday, lost to Mario Severino of Schenectady in a sizzling six rounder at the end of which Romano was grogging and reeling.

Eddie Steele of Poughkeepsie scored a technical knockout over Guy Corneau of Johnstown in the fourth round when the blond batter suffered a bad cut over his right eye. This was a slugfest that pleased the fans, until the accident.

Johnny Uleski, Schenectady heavyweight, outpointed Gunner Smith of the West Point cavalry in five rounds of terrific punching on which the Polish pounder had the edge.

Preliminaries

Tommy Calmes, 159, West Point, outpointed Woody Beauregard, 154, Albany, three rounds.

Johnny Leadbetter, 132, West Point, won decision over Joey Tantillo, 129, Highland, 3 rounds.

Dominick Scalzo, 126, Poughkeepsie, won on technical knockout over Bill Van Kleeck, 129, Kingston in 4 seconds of third round.

Officials for the card were Everett Hubbard, of Gilboa, and Lieutenant Blakeslee, of Poughkeepsie; Bill Singer, referee, and Morton Finch, time, Sam Riber did the announcing. The next card will be held on Friday of next week.

Bowling Playoff Tuesday Night

The Colonial Bowling League play-off between the Mohicans and Mill Street Garage will be played Tuesday night at Colonial alleys on North Front street. Three out of five games will decide the series. Duplicate prizes were awarded to the two clubs at the annual banquet, but A. B. C. rules call for the tie to be rolled off.

Ulster Volunteer Firemen's Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held in Glascow, Tuesday night, May 18, with Mullford Fire Company of that place acting as host.

This will be the last meeting before the annual meeting which will be held in Port Ewen on July 23 and 24. The fire and smoke eaters from this little town have been making preparations during the entire year for this event and the firemen of the county are looking eagerly forward to this date as they are expecting the usual good time which is had at these conventions and they know that the fire ladders and their auxiliary from Port Ewen know how to put it across.

On Sunday, June 6th a delegation from this association will visit the firemen's home at Hudson when they will put on an entertainment for the inmates. Attention is called to those who have entertainment which they wish to present to the committee for this event to see that it is presented to the committee at the next meeting in order that the program can be arranged.

The speakers' committee have announced that they have secured A. C.
Hudson, assistant chief engineer, National Board of Fire Underwriters, as the speaker for this meeting, and he has chosen for his topic "The Value of Volunteer Firemen to a Community." Communities who are fortunate enough to have the services of a well equipped Volunteer Fire Department realize their value and the firemen themselves know that they have a duty to perform
when called upon and do it with little or no compensation, yet without a doubt Mr. Hudson is going to be able to tell us about many things which they consider as reducing hazards and of essential value to a community which we have not realized.

As this will be the first meeting to be held at Glascow it is expected that a large crowd will be present.

Three Little Words Mar Their Wedding Plans

The Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield made last-minute wedding plans under the shadow of a threat by high British officials to deny recognition to the former king's bride-to-be as "her royal highness." They would have been known simply as the Duchess of Windsor, without the rank of royalty. The duke and his future duchess are shown here in a happy humor at the Chateau de Candé near Monts, France.

Meeting at Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, May 15 (AP)—John L.
Lewis' steel workers organizing committee heralded a victory in the nation's first major steel strike in 18 years—then summoned its leaders among workers of three big "independents" to a meeting in Pittsburgh today. Some observers termed the meeting "a council of war" to outline strikes at the plants of producers independent of the U. S. Steel Corporation. Philip Murray, Union chairman, said these walkouts were "inevitable."

Red Column Destroyed

Toledo, Spain, May 15 (AP)—A column of government troops south of the Tago river was reported today to have been virtually destroyed by bombs and machine gun fire in an insurgent air attack. One of Gen.
Francisco Franco's air squadrons, circling the battle lines of the government's offensive toward this ancient Moorish capital, sighted the column moving back from one of the central positions, an official report said, and swooped down on it.

Ranger in Port.

Marblehead, Mass., May 15 (AP)— Ranger Harold S. Vanderbilt's newly launched aspirant for defense of the America's cup, was towed into this harbor today minus her towering 165-foot mast. Apparently she had been dismasted during last night's storm while under tow from Bath, Me., to Newport.

Awaits Full Report

London, May 15 (AP)—The British cabinet awaited today a full report on the admiralty investigation into the explosion which killed eight men and injured 14 aboard the destroyer Hunter, before deciding on any definite course of action.

Association will hold its annual meeting in the library of the high school Tuesday, May 18, at 8 o'clock.
An opportunity for asking questions on topics connected with the teacher of science, will outline the work done by the science clubs. All

Three Alarm Fire On Down Street

rear of the ice house and only a few feet from the burning structure was saved through the efforts of the firemen aided by a favorable wind which blew the flames toward the west and away from the building.

At the time of the fire the plant was undergoing repairs and alterations. Mr. Matthews in March purchased the building and T. I. Rifen-bary & Son, local contractors, were engaged in remodeling the plant.
Mr. Matthews intended to make a modern storage warehouse and cold storage plant of the property and had taken possession May first. When the alterations were completed it was to be used as a storage plant for the R. E. Craft Company, operators of the Great Bull Markets in Kingston, Longhempshire and Newburgh of which Mr. Matthews is head.

In place of the ice refrigeration,
Mr. Matthews planned to install an ammonia refrigeration plant and this work was to be done by J. A.
Cassidy & Son, Inc. of Kingston.
Besides being used by the Great Bull chain of stores as warehouses, the plant was to be used by the Colonial Fruit Company, as a wholesale cold storage plant for fruits and vegetables.

Heavy Rain Storm

The fire was the first three alarm in general alarm fire since the burning of the city hall several years ago and brought out every available piece of fire apparatus in the city. The fact that a heavy downpour had been in progress throughout the day and evening, was of great aid to the firemen. There was a great shower of sparks blown over adjacent roofs and out to Broadway, but the rain which continued to fall made it unnecessary for the firemen to divert their attention to adjacent roofs and the entire department was able to direct all attention to the main fire.
Located along the Ulster & Delaware Railroad tracks, now the Catskill Mountain Branch, the building was known years ago as the Kaufman Creamery. Later it became the Kingston Dairy and Ice Cream Company plant and several years ago was taken over by the Dairyman's League and for a time operated by that organization. Recently it had been used by the U. P. A. local grocery co-operative association, as a storage warehouse. When Mr. Matthews purchased the building in March the U.
P. A. acquired its own building and had removed its stock. In the building at the time was stored a considerable amount of stock but due to alterations which were in progress
the plant was not yet being used extensively as a storage warehouse by the R. E. Craft Company.

The cause of the fire is not known but it was suggested that workmen might have dropped a cigarette during the day which smoldered for a time before breaking out in open fire.

John W. Matthews, owner of the plant, is at present away on a south- ern cruise and is not expected to ar- rive home for several days.

Making Inspection

This morning Chief Joseph Murphy was making an inspection of the ruins in an endeavor to ascertain the cause if possible of the fire but it was stated that at present there was no information as to just what might have caused the blaze. It was definitely known that it started in the ice house portion but because of the headway which the fire had gained when the firemen arrived it was almost impossible to tell where the fire had originated. Deputy Chief Lever-ette stated that an estimate of the loss would not be known until the inspection of the plant was completed.

Special Class Meeting

Classis of Ulster held a special meeting Friday afternoon in the First Reformed Church and granted the request of the consistories and minister of the Plattekill and High Woods churches that the pastoral relief be dissolved. The Rev. Harvey B. Hoffman has been the pastor of these churches since December, 1935. He has recently been given a call by the Schuylerville church, Washington county, and this he has accepted. On May 16 he will preach his farewell sermon. A certificate of dismissal was given to the Rev. Mr.
Hoffman, to join the Saratoga Classis.
The Rev. S. W. Ryder, Ph. D. pastor of Flatbush church, was appointed to be the constitutional supervisor of the Plattekill and High Woods churches.

Will Withdraw Guards

New York, May 15 (AP)—Those police guards which have been watching over supposedly carefree children in 142 playgrounds scattered throughout New York city will be withdrawn next week. The board of estimate ended the "battle of the playgrounds" by unanimously voting funds necessary to hire civil service employees to replace WPA workers in the playgrounds. The board voted $75,000 outright to pay $60 employees until the middle of June. From then until the end of the year, the added payroll will be met through a special bond issue.

Trial Faces Pair

Jersey City, N. J., May 15 (AP)—
Gladys MacKnight, 17, and Donald Wrightman, 18, faced today the unexpected consequences of a tennis date
they made last summer—their trial for the hatched murder of the girl's mother. Apparently estranged during their long stay in prison and fight for separate trials, they go to trial together Monday before a jury to be chosen from a panel made up entirely of men. The death penalty will be asked. Prosecutor Daniel T.
O'Regan announced.

EARLE HELPS END STEEL STRIKE

Carey, DeWitt Died In Hospital

street, the gate tender on duty at the Broadway crossing at the time, said the crossing gates were down when he saw the fire truck coming down Broadway at Cedar street. Ellwanger claimed the truck was speeding about 50 miles an hour.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy
when questioned about the speed of the fire truck stated that it was impossible for the truck to pick up that speed after leaving the scene of the fire. He said, also, that owing to the heavy rain, it would be impossible to drive at that speed.

One Gate Broken Off.

Police Chief Wood said that his investigation showed that the southwest crossing gate was broken off 28 feet from the hinge. The piece broken off when hit by the truck was 6 feet 9 inches long, and there was a number of large splinters scattered about on the crossing.

Trammen in Charge.

The passenger train was in charge of Conductor Albert Thompson, of Ravena, and the engineer was Hiram Daumes, of Ravena.

One Headlight Lighted.

The left hand side of the fire truck was not so badly damaged as the right side. The left headlight remained lighted all the time the truck was dragged along the railroad tracks by the train. It was on this side of the truck that Smith was sitting.

Condition Critical.

At the Kingston Hospital it was stated that the condition of Finkle was critical.

Mayor Heiselman and Fire Chief Murphy visited the hospital shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. Finkle was able to talk but the mayor said that the fireman appeared to be in a daze.

It was stated that Finkle's condition apparently was somewhat better than that of DeWitt, although both were so critical that no opinion was ventured as to whether they would recover.

Recalls Similar Tragedy

The early morning tragedy recalls a somewhat similar crash of some years ago in which three men lost their lives when a trolley car crashed with a train on the Broadway crossing. In that tragedy Deputy County Clerk George Webster, Jr., and Policeman John Boyd were fatally injured, and Mr. Kostelci also lost his life.
The three men were passengers on the trolley car, which was proceeding uptown at the time of the tragedy.

Revives Elimination

At that time the question of eliminating the Broadway crossing was revived and there was considerable talk, but nothing was done aside from preparing plans for its elimination.

In fact, crossing elimination has been talked of for the last quarter century. It was first brought prominently to the attention of the city when the late Mayor Palmer A.
Canfield suggested that the council take steps to have the crossing eliminated.

At that time a model was prepared showing how Broadway would appear with the crossing eliminated, and this model was displayed in the store windows, both uptown and downtown.

The model was stored in the city hall and became lost during the fire that wrecked the city hall some years ago.

Again Brought Up.

In 1936 the crossing elimination again was made an issue. The public service commission decreed that the crossing must go and directed the railroad to submit a plan. The railroad did. It was known as "Issue
A."

Mayor Heiselman, business men of the central section of the city and the council, objected strongly against the plan being carried into effect.

The city was given an opportunity to submit an alternative plan and Mayor Heiselman and others in the city government gave considerable study to the project and finally a plan known as "Scheme B Modified" was prepared and submitted.

This plan called for carrying Broadway under the railroad tracks and considerable objection was raised to the plan by the business men in the affected area, who claimed that if the plan was constructed it would ruin that section of the city.

Public hearings were held at which time objections were raised to the adoption of any plan that meant carrying Broadway under the railroad tracks.

Finally, in August of 1936, a resolution was prepared at the suggestion of Mayor Heiselman which called for the substitution of the city's plan in preference to the railroad plan.

When the matter came up for a vote in the council the resolution was defeated, only five aldermen voting in favor of the resolution.

The aldermen voting in favor were Messrs. Zucca, Tremper, Murphy,
Peyer and Garon.

There Matter Rests

There the matter has rested up to the present day, and the public service commission has made no move as yet to put the railroad's plan for eliminating the crossing into operation.

Great Excitement

News of the tragedy this morning spread swiftly through the city. Relatives of the firemen riding the fatal fire truck were notified of the accident and hurried to the hospital.

DeWitt was picked up by Special Officer Stracy and Charles Thiel of the railroad police force, and placed in the truck of Excelsior Hose and conveyed to the hospital in a taxi while the Conner ambulance was called for Carey.

First at Scene

According to the police record
Monroe Southard and Dennis Leehive were the first two citizens to arrive at the scene of the accident.

Making Investigation

Chief Wood stated this morning that his department was making a thorough investigation of the tragedy to ascertain all the facts and, if possible, to fix the responsibility.

All three injured firemen were rushed to the emergency room while their anxious relatives thronged the corridor outside. Mrs. Finkle DeWitt were under the influence of narcotics which had been administered to ease their pain, and were unable to talk.

Fireman Carey, who died of ter-renal injuries about 6 o'clock, was conscious and able to talk, although he constantly asked for water.
He was in excruciating pain from his injuries. He asked how the others were and was told they had only been injured slightly.

Their Survivors

Fireman Preston DeWitt is lived by his wife, formerly Mrs.
Dorothy Petri, and a son, Preston, aged 11 years. He was appointed a member of the paid fire department on April 1, 1931.

Fireman Carey is survived by his wife, the former Miss Myrtle O. borne; his mother, Mrs. Jane E. O.
rey; two brothers, former Mayor Gene B. Carey and Vincent P. O.
rey, and three sisters, Mrs. May Comerford, Miss Theresa M. Carey and Miss Alverta D. Carey. He was a member of St. Joseph's Holy Nation Society, and a charter member of Kingston Post of the American Legion. He was a member of John Cordts Hose Company and of the Union Council, Knights of Columbus, and was secretary of the Kingston Paid Firemen's Association. He was appointed a member of the paid department on April 16, 1925.

During the World War he served with Headquarters Company, 364 Infantry, of the 77th Division, enlisted February 25, 1918, and was discharged on May 9, 1919. He was active service in the Baccarat Sector, at Vesle, Aise, Aisne and Meuse Argonne Sections, serving year and 13 days overseas. Fume services will be held from the home, 60 Clinton avenue, on Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, at thence to St. Joseph's Church for a solemn requiem Mass will be held at 10 o'clock with burial at St. Mary's Cemetery.

Discord Threatens G. O. P. Convention

Syracuse, N. Y., May 15 (AP)— York State Republicans swung into the final session their annual convention today faced with a double barreled threat of discord spite of leaders' pleas for "harmony and less heeling" pleas for "harmony and less heeling."

These developments forecast a lively session.

The resolutions committee testimony of Erie County Chairman Edwin F. Jaekle's demand for the resignation of State Chairman William S. Murray and adopted a resolution pledging "our whole hearted support" and declaring "confidence in the state chairman."

The platform committee presented a proposed platform almost certain to bring heated floor debate.
The platform pointedly asked for the resignations of National Commissioner Charles D. Hillis and Representative Beyer Pratt on the grounds that they were responsible for the Republican party being the "minority party."

It expressed approval of collective bargaining as a standard labor practice and called for the elimination of company unions.

It recommended approval of the federal anti-child labor amendment and called for a general sales tax
"necessary" to balance the budget.
